POSITIVE FEEDBACK ENDORSES TAMPINES COURSE'S READINESS FOR MAJOR EVENTS

Foreign professionals praise layout; TMCC golfers shine on the competition front

Editor Godfrey Robert

you find water. Go right, and you are in the trees. And the greenside bunker is a problem if the flag is just behind one.

"The signature par-three 16th is a majestic hole, with the waterfall behind it. It looks easy, but the undulating green offers a challenge. And if the winds blow, you have to make the right adjustments" This was the hole that ruined India's S. Chikkaranga's faint hopes in January's The Singapore International when he found water thrice and ended up with a six-over 9.

South Korea's Kim Bi-o, my playing partner at the pro-am event of the International Series and a favourite who missed the cut, said: "It's a lovely course with some fabulous holes. I hit some great shots, but if you do not find the right destination, you can easily three-putt."

And putting is key in this course, according to joint-runner-up Phachara Khongwatmai, who sank a magnificent putt on the last hole in front of a huge crowd. The Thai averaged 26.75 putts for four rounds in the numbers of putts to finish joint-top with Australian Todd Sinnott, who fired an eight-under 64 on the final day.

American Major winner (2018 US Masters) Patrick Reed may not have had a great tournament, finishing in joint-31st also alongside Singapore amateur James Leow, but he enjoyed his outing, the icing on the cake coming from his ace on the 170-metre 14th hole on the final day.

The media centre, a critical area of every major event, was well located, facing the ninth and 18th greens. And the facilities for journalists were very good and surely adequate.

The thumbs-up given by many players – even the ones who did not make the cut – on the organisation of the recent Asian Tour's US$1.5 million International Series is an endorsement that Tanah Merah Country Club can easily host major events.

Champion Nitithorn Thippong of Thailand, said: "It's a fabulous course which made us think for four days. All the holes are superb and different and call for correct application.

"I love the long par-four 15th, which requires a perfect drive. Go left, and

So, indications are that the Tampines course – as originally envisaged because of sister-course Garden's loss of land to Changi Airport expansion and highway extension – is ideal for more of such major events, and the TMCC management have plans to source for more world-class tournaments.

On the Club competition scene, TMCC members continue to shine after their SGA Inter-Club League overall team title triumph in June when the women played a leading role in helping the team win the mixed event.

Lying fourth going into the final leg, TMCC turned on the heat to propel past Singapore Island Country Club, Warren Golf and Country Club and National Service Resort and Country Club for the crown.

The women also finished third in the SLGA Cup after a titanic battle, edged out by winners Warren by three points and runners-up Seletar Country Club by one in the podium finish.

Subsequently, Yash Majmudar, who used to be a Club member since his move as a kid from Orchid Country Club, clinched the Singapore Open Amateur Championship at the Tampines course. The affable now Dubai-based Indian won in a three-way play-off in a familiar setting to add to his many local club successes.

Norlia Embong confirmed her status as one of the Club's leading players when she defended her women's crown in the recent Singapore National Senior Amateur Championships at Warren. And TMCC made it a 1-2 finish when Jamie Chew claimed runner-up spot, nine shots behind Norlia who totalled 24-over 168. Subsequently, Norlia also won the Thai Open Senior title.

The premier status of the Club was underlined when 74 new members and their spouses attended a New Members Night introduction with Club Chairman Ng Kee Choe and 15 other General Committee members in a celebratory function.

Through Club President Ronald Ong, the new members got to know the GC members and General Manager Elliott Gray introduced the management staff of the Club.

Now that the COVID-19 pandemic has eased up, Club activities are back in full swing. The Ladies' Zodiac event was a colourful affair that brought fun and joy to the ladies soaked in sporting competition.

The Super Sprint Series in July brought together children between the ages of 7 and 14 and oldies between 41 and 50 years in a truly fun swimming competition. TMCC, surely, is in the swing again.

TOP 100

GOLF COURSES IN ASIA!

Against the backdrop of the pandemic and many uncertainties, Tanah Merah Country Club (TMCC) is especially humbled and privileged to be recognised in Golf Travel's Top 100 Golf Courses in Asia.

This celebratory feat is a culmination of the hard work and dedication of many TMCC staff in maintaining the immaculate greens and resplendent fairways of Tampines Course all year round. TMCC will continue to build on the legacy of our pioneering successes to attain greater heights in the 21st century.

SO MUCH DRAMA ON THE PAR-FIVE 18TH AT TAMPINES

Contender Chan drives into water, 40-minute stoppage, Green missed birdie-putt.

The clubhouse leader was hopeful, hiding his confidence with a casual behaviour when practising on the nearby putting green. His biggest challenger was striding towards the 18th green not too far away.

The large, excited crowd was full of anticipation, waiting to see who would go on to claim the Asian Tour's US$1.5 million International Singapore Series crown.

The final par-five hole at Tanah Merah Country Club's Tampines course was the stage for heroics or anguish.

Thailand's Nitithorn Thippong was not even looking but focused on his practice when Malaysian Gavin Green was lining up his crucial 15-foot tricky putt on the 18th green.

General Committee members

Nitithorn Thippong

Just minutes ago, Nitithorn had sunk a difficult 15-foot putt to sit pretty with the clubhouse lead with four sub-par rounds of four-under 68, 67, 68 and 69 on a challenging course.

Green, fortunate that his wayward drive heading towards water found land, followed up with a chip back to the fairway and a superb approach shot to be within striking distance of Nitithorn.

But alas, his pressure putt from 15 feet for birdie went up an undulation and veered slightly left, about three inches from the hole, and he finished joint-runner-up.

There was a hush and Nitithorn knew that he would not be taken to a play-off, thanks also to Taiwanese Chan Shih-chang's double-bogey on the 18th after driving into water.

And Chan had to go back to the tee-box for his third shot, following which there was a 40-minute stoppage because of a lightning warning.

Patrick Reed enjoying the game

Green missed, Thai Phachara Khong watmai's birdie was just not enough and the adventurous Chan had blown it to finish joint-fourth with Australian Todd Sinnott, who shot 64.

Then, calm, cool and composed, Nitithorn ambled away from the practice green to a grand welcome by his Thai counterparts who showered him with bottles of water, leaving Phachara (71), Green (71) and Canada's Richard Lee (67) to finish one behind.

"This is fantastic, just fantastic," said Nitithorn, who bagged US$270,000. "I cannot describe my feelings right now. I have practised so hard for this "I hit a lot of greens this week and had a lot of birdie putts. I think my mentality was great. I did not think about the score, just the process."

Nitithorn won for the first time on the Asian Tour in March at The DGC Open presented by Mastercard and is the second player this season to win twice on Tour, along with American Sihwan Kim.

He added: "It has just been a dream season so far, and to win an International Series event is unbelievable."

Nitithorn had started the day one shot behind overnight leaders Green, the 2017 Asian Tour number one, and Phachara. However, Green got off to the worst possible start and was four over after four, while Phachara also failed to find his A game.

"I got off to a horrendous start, and kind of just clicked the reset button and just kept going," said Green, "Because, with this course, a lot of things can happen. And especially on the last hole, as you saw, there was so much drama down the last. It was anybody's game, and anybody could have done something. A lot of things were going on, but I just kind of stayed in the moment really. I just tried, I tried very, very hard just to keep moving along and just stay as patient as possible."

Lee's 67 came after he dropped a shot on the fourth but then rallied with six birdies.

He said: "I have been struggling with my putting but I changed my putter and grip this week. I have gone to a reverse grip, and it worked out pretty well. I think I have averaged about 29 putts this week. I am always a good ball striker; bottom line is you have got to hole the putts."

American star Patrick Reed closed with his best round of the week, a 67, which was helped by a hole-in-one on the par-three 14th. He finished on eight under in a tie for 31st, a spot also held by Singapore amateur James Leow (68).

"A lot of ups, and a lot of downs today," said Reed. "I was actually between eight and nine on 14, we had 171, we were trying to figure out what way the wind was doing, so I hit a soft eight, and it never left the flag stick. That's my third in tournaments, and the biggest one being right here as it kind of got the momentum going because it was really rough early on, I needed something to spark the round."

CHAMP YASH REKINDLES TMCC SPIRIT OF WINNING

By Godfrey Robert

There was welcome drama in the final round of the four-day Singapore Open Amateur Championships at Tanah Merah Country Club's Tampines course on July 22.

And it seemed appropriate that a TMCC member – who had won many club events previously -- clinched the men's event by the narrowest of margins from a field of 80 players.

India's Yash Majmudar, who started playing golf at Orchid Country Club as a kid before moving to TMCC, won the event in a play-off.

Looking a clear winner going into the par-five 18th hole on the final day with a two-shot lead, Yash, 24, seemed to have dashed his hopes with a double-bogey, that forced a three-way play-off with all three golfers on three-over 291.

Camaraderie amongst the players 1

Camaraderie amongst the players 2

But Yash made amends with a par on the play-off hole to edge out his rivals, Thailand's Weerawish Narkprachar and Hong Kong's Isaac Lam to clinch the trophy.

Yash, who is now based in Dubai, returned scores of 72, 72, 73 and 74, said: "It feels really good to win in a field with the best players from around the region. It feels great to pull it off."

With this win, Yash has also earned a spot to compete at the US$1.5 million Asian Tour's International Series Singapore from Aug 11 to 14 on the same course.

Weerawish finished second and Lam third, followed by Australians Samuel Slater (292) and Franklin Lydra (293). Justin Kuk (298) was Singapore's best finisher at 11th.

In the women's division, Mirabel Ting of Malaysia made it a wire-to-wire victory after recording her fourth consecutive sub-par round. Mirabel finished at 11-under for the week, 16 shots ahead of Singapore's Hailey Loh.

Mirabel claimed the title in spectacular fashion, stringing four sub-par rounds of one-under 71, 68, 67 and 71 for a 277 aggregate.

Ladies' Division winner Mirabel Ting & Champion Yash Majmudar

Said Mirabel: "I would like to thank Malaysia Golf Association, my parents and supporters for their belief in me."

Hailey, who is studying in the United States, finished on five over with rounds of 74, 71, 70 and 78 for a 293 total.

Third was Filipina Mikhaela Fortune with 74, 81, 68 and 74, just ahead of teammate Sofia Chabon on countback on 297.

Singapore's Inez Ng (71, 78, 75, 75) was seventh while Jillian Kuk finished ninth (76, 77, 78, 77) in a field of 30 players.

TMCC FINISH A CLOSE THIRD, JAMIE BAGS AN ACE

By Godfrey Robert

The final leaderboard says it all.
About how close the titanic battle was.
About how the ladies were about gunning for the title.
About what real competition is all about.

Two points separated the winners from the runners-up. And a single point kept apart the runners-up from the third-placed team.

So, to put it mildly, Tanah Merah Country Club who finished third, had a sweet-sour day on June 30 at Laguna National's Masters course.

On a perfect day, blessed with a slight drizzle towards the end of the game which cooled things off, TMCC totalled 298 points in the stableford competition.

Warren Golf and Country Club took the main honours with 301 points, followed by Seletar Country Club on 299 points.

TMCC FINISH A CLOSE THIRD, JAMIE BAGS AN ACE

Spearheaded by TMCC's longtime star player Norlia Embong, the TMCC ladies finished a point behind Seletar with five of the eight players contributed more than 36 points.

Norlia aside, the TMCC representatives were Fumiko Minowa, Dily Ng, Lynette Yeo, Vicky Zan, Gillian Sim, Jasmine Chew and Karen Yap.

The popular SLGA Cup, back after a two-year hiatus because of the COVID-19 pandemic, also saw an ace.

TMCC's Jamie Chiew playing for Sentosa, who scored 31 points, bagged a hole-in-one on the difficult par-three 133-yard 17th hole, among 110 participants.

On an intimidating hole over water and distracted by bunkers, Jamie used an eight-iron to register the ace.

It was the first hole-in-one for the friendly Jamie who has been playing golf since 1994.

The first to tee-off on the 113-yard 17th hole at Laguna National's Masters course, Jamie hit a beautiful shot that dropped heavily (causing a big divot) and raced into the hole.

Eagle-eyed TMCC Lady Captain Gillian Sim was the first to realise that Jamie had bagged an ace.

She screamed "ace" and Jamie was ecstatic when she realised that the ball had fallen into the hole.

Jamie received a $1,000 cheque for her magnificent effort but, so far, she has spent almost $5,000 celebrating with her various groups of friends.

"That's okay," said Jamie with a big smile. "How often do golfers get a hole-in-one? I am truly over the moon. I will savour the ace and enjoy that special moment with my friends."

DEDICATED NORLIA KEEPS THE WINNING MOMENTUM

By Godfrey Robert

Norlia Embong is on a roll. From playing a heroine's role in lifting Tanah Merah Country Club to the SGA Inter-Club League title to winning the association's Senior Open crown, she now adds another feather to her cap.

Her latest feat came almost 1,500 kilometres away at Amata Spring Country Club, just outside Bangkok, where she won the Thailand Ladies Open in convincing fashion.

The affable sexagenarian beat an international field to claim the title by eight strokes over Malaysia's Lai Set Fah with scores of 10-over 82 and 82 for a 20-over 164 total.

"I am truly happy, as it was a last-minute decision to compete in the overseas event with nine other TMCC members. And the schedule was hectic, what with practices and social rounds."

On her rounds, the committed Norlia, who places "giving of my best" to an obsession to winning, the ever-smiling Norlia said: "It was a challenging course, so I knew I had to play smart.

"Because the bunkers were difficult, I tried my best to avoid them. But in the few times I found sand, I did manage to blast out."

Norlia receiving the award for winning the 29th Singha Thailand Ladies Amateur Open 2022

Despite ruing a few double-bogeys, Norlia stayed on course with a string of pars and a couple of birdies.

Her next stop: Probably the Tasmanian Open next month, an Australian state that I had visited, but not played on its courses. It would be a great experience."

However, the SICC Senior Open at the Island course in November is a must, as the single handicapper enjoys the competition and the experience.

Proud moment for Norlia

Norlia, who plays two or three times a week, has reasonably lengthy drives, her tee-offs eating up around 190 metres. And she feels if she improves on her short game and putting, she will register better consistent scores.

TMCC league captain Jasmine Chew, with whom I played a pro-am round during the Singapore International Series at the Tampines course: "Norlia is a competent golfer. She applies herself to the game and is a hard worker at practices.

"She is in a class of her own among her contemporaries, and she is sure to win more tournaments."

TMCC lady captain Gillian Sim, also a single-handicapper and one who finished sixth (89-89) in the Thai event, said: "Norlia is an effervescent lady who is the spark of our ladies' league team.

"She is a dedicated team member who is passionate about the game. She is currently the hottest senior player across Singapore and Thailand, winning both the Senior Opens.

"She plays well under intense pressure and is an excellent match player. Norlia has a natural swing and even after a long lay-off, she can still play well because she has strong fundamentals and technique.

"TMCC is fortunate to have Norlia play in the league for us for the last few years as she is the key that holds us together."

Makan kecil time!

It was a splurge of colours at the Ladies' Zodiac Social at Tanah Merah Country Club's Tampines course on August 16, a week after National Day.

Fifty-six ladies participated in the colourful event where the theme of the event was "Zodiac Teams". The teams comprised players of the same Astrological Zodiac signs, so the golfers came dressed in the various Zodiac signs.

So Capricornians wore black and white, Aquarians were in pink and white, Pisceans donned blue, and those who belonged to the Aries sign were attired in pink and black.

And so it went on thus: Taurus (red), Gemini (green), Cancer (orange), Leo (yellow), Virgo (purple), Libra (all white), Scorpius (all black) and Sagittarius (grey).

Players' scores were calculated at 100 per cent of their course handicap on a Stableford basis. The scores of the players in the same Zodiac signs were added together and averaged out, and the winning teams were decided on the highest average Stableford points.

The morning rain cleared in time for our early-afternoon tee-off, and perfect weather greeted the players.

Scores were put up on the whiteboard at the 19th hole as each flight came in.

But little heed was paid to “who won or who lost” because fun and bonding meant a lot to the ladies who have kept the “TMCC” spirit of togetherness.

Later, the ladies had a makan kecil and cooled off with cold beer and chilled wine in an event that had to be “frozen” because of COVID-19 restrictions.

And as usual, the conversation also revolved around happenings on the course, like bagging birdies and rueing missed putts.

In short, celebrations were the order of the day, whether you were a winner or also-ran.

Here's a useful tip
if you find yourself needing to get up and over a hazard onto a tight pin.

DO THE FLOP

Chances are good that at least once or twice in a round, you'll find yourself in a position where you need to get your ball up and over a hazard onto a small landing area [Pic 2]. We've seen videos of Phil Mickelson and Tiger Woods hit amazing flop shots that look all but impossible for weekend golfers.

Very often, when we attempt similar shots, we end up either skulling it miles beyond the green, or chunking it so bad, the ball dives into the hazard. But hitting a shot that goes high and lands soft is not as difficult as it seems – if you have some basics correct.

Let's start with some visualisation of what it takes. Place three coins at the back of a golf ball (Pic 3).

What you need to visualise is that when you deliver the club to the ball, the leading edge should enter the ground around the third coin furthest away from the ball (Pic 4).

What this does is to ensure that the clubhead hits the lowest point of the ball (Pic 5), thus preventing the common topped shot with a wedge.

When practising this, move the ball away from the line and towards you on the range before hitting it. The coins placed in front of your ball will then give you a visual image of the point of contact.

The other thing that you'll need to take note of is your hand position and angle of the club shaft after impact. Try to ensure that with the hands below your belt, the club shaft should be pointed upwards after the ball is struck (Pic 6).

This ensures that you've accelerated the club through the ball, and not stopping short after impact.

Practise these simple tips and you'll be hitting those high balls that land as soft as "butterflies with sore feet" on the greens in no time.

President Ronald Ong addressing the attendees

NEW MEMBERS GIVEN A COMPLETE RUNDOWN OF THE CLUB'S SET-UP AND MANAGEMENT TEAM

By Godfrey Robert

It is an encouraging sign that with Tanah Merah Country Club's membership price going up gradually over the last four years, the take-up rate has not gone down.

Chairman Ng Kee Choe making his speech

Listed currently at $195,000 for the sign-up fee – from a low of around $100,000 four years ago – the prestigious golf club is highly sought after.

This was evident at the New Members' Night on August 3 at the Garden Banquet Room when 74 members and spouses attended the event with a gusto so evident.

There were happy faces when the new members – a mix of race and careers – met the Club Chairman Ng Kee Choe, deputy chairman Niam Chiang Meng and 14 other General Committee members on a lively night where the tempo was heightened by the performance of a live band.

This was the first New Members Night since November 2019, the two-year hiatus caused by the Covid pandemic.

Enjoying the camaraderie

Serenading the crowd with jazzy tunes

The three-piece instrumental band played jazzy music and soothing sounds to blend with the happy occasion. In a dialogue with the new members, there was no holding back in the discussions and view exchanges.

And every department at the club had a booth set up to engage the new members during the night.

Members were able to enquire about their services at the respective booths and find out what each department was doing. Of course, dining appetites were whetted with the serving of a sumptuous array of food and drinks.

Indulging in the buffet spread

The food included kebabs, laksa, roast beef (carving station), satay, desserts and gyoza to be washed down by white wine, beer and ice water.

Club president Ronald Ong introduced the General Committee members while General Manager Elliott Gray introduced the management staff of the club.

So, the premier club was endorsed with a gold stamp by the new members who went away feeling a strong belonging to a friendly, family-like set-up.

Delicious Mao Shan Wang!

While some find this tropical fruit most foul-smelling, it is also that holds the heart (and tastebuds) for many people.

In fact, in some countries it is named as the “King of Fruits” for its flesh is described as “a rich custard highly flavoured with almonds”.

The durian is tasty and easy in the mouth as you savour an acquired taste that keeps you wanting for more.

ALL ABOUT SMELL, TASTE AND SUCCULENCE

Premium Mao Shan Wang
durians a hit at inaugural event

It is also used to flavour a wide variety of savoury and sweet desserts while its seeds can also be eaten when cooked.

So strong is its smell that when a Durian Extravaganza event was held at the TMCC Sports Complex Covered Terrace the members and guests driving in at the Garden location were captivated by the aroma.

There was a ticklish feeling to their nostrils on Saturday, July 16, 2022, when the event – a first -- was staged between 6.30pm and 9.00pm.

All 54 registrants, a mixture of adults and kids, members and their guests, turned up for the event.

And they were served premium Mao Shan Wang durian, lychees and watermelon, in addition to grilled chicken satay and fresh fruit juices.

The Mao Shan Wang durian, also known as Musang King, is one of the most highly sought-after durians in Singapore.

It is a rare delicacy, and the flavour is widely described as “rich, intense and bitter-sweet with a hint of liquor”.

Kesavan, the Senior Programme Coordinator from Sports, engaged the participants with some Q & A about the club. Winners were handed prizes, mostly club memorabilia.

Music wise, there was a DJ console playing upbeat evergreens to add to the fun atmosphere of the event.

GLOBAL CITIZEN

Ms Mollie Low-Scott is no stranger to travelling the world. She makes the most of her homes in three continents, enjoying a life coloured by her love for golf, family and friends.

Mollie (in the blue bandana), having fun with friends on a sunset cruise yacht party in Cabo San Lucas

Please tell us something about your background.

I grew up and was educated in Singapore. My first job was a buyer for an offshore American oil and gas company for six years.

One day while I was traveling, I realised how much I enjoyed shopping and I decided to make it my business. I subsequently ran a very lucrative clothing business, designing and buying for marvellous customers from all over the world. I have a diploma in fashion design and I designed clothing for clients with retail stores abroad. It was a dream and I am blessed to have had the opportunity to fulfil it.

I sold my fashion business after 10 years and spent the next 15 years working in real estate.

At the 150th British Open 2022

How long have you been a member of the club and what made you join?

I've been a member for 24 years. When I joined, I was one of very few ladies in TMCC. My membership was a birthday present. I started really enjoying the game over time and it has become a favourite pastime.

How long have you been playing golf, and how do you feel about the sport?

I started playing 25 years ago. I truly love golf and the constant challenge it brings. I also love interacting with people and there is no better way than a game with other members.

Golf makes you feel either ecstatic or very challenged in the four hours it takes. It is definitely a game of mental and physical fortitude. As long as you remain up to the challenge and stay healthy you can play and enjoy it for a very long time.

How often do you play at TMCC, and with whom?

On average I play two or three times a week when I am in Singapore. I spend a few months every year flying around the world discovering other legendary golf courses. Both my friends and TMCC are so accommodating when I am here. They invite me to fit into their groups when available. The club too has been very helpful fitting me into groups.

Any holes in one?

I've had five! My first one was in 2002 at Golf Club Kennedy Bay in Western Australia. Since then, I had aces at The Gallery Golf Club in Tucson, Arizona, in 2009, two at the old Garden Course at TMCC (2009 and 2011), and the most recent one at El Cardonal Diamante in Cabo San Lucas, Mexico.

◀ With Sergio Garcia

◀ With Tyrell Hatton at the AP Event in Orlando, USA

What do you like most about TMCC?

Being surrounded by friends and the courteous staff with their welcoming smiles. I also love the club's positive energy!

In what areas and how do you think TMCC can improve?

You should not change something that works so well. Just keep it going.

What do you think TMCC has that sets it apart from other clubs?

The reputation of a golf club comes with the ambience, the people and the consistency in maintaining its courses and overall club houses and facilities. That is where you attract major tournaments and the best players and that is what I saw in TMCC that distinguishes it from many other clubs.

Where some of your favourite golf destinations?

I love playing in Scotland, and the USA, particularly Hawaii. Some American golf courses are at high altitude and it makes a lot of difference on the distances the ball travels. They are normally well manicured compared to the Scottish golf courses. There are so many wonderful golf courses in all these destinations.

Can you recount a memorable golf experience?

Once when I was on holiday with friends they decided to put me in a driving range with a golf pro while they went out for a round of golf.

It was unbearably hot and I told the pro it was not going to work for me. Within minutes, they transported and installed two industrial fans from the hotel so that we had appropriate ventilation. The people practicing next to me were as delighted as I was. I love white glove service!

What other activities do you engage in outside of life at the club and with family?

I enjoy yoga and the occasional Pilates exercise on a reformer. I also swim and work out with my trainer. Nothing is better than dinner with my family and spending time with my mum.

I also love having my friends over for dinner, drinks and play a round of golf in the simulator at home.

How do you split the time between your homes in different countries?

I spend three months in London and St. Andrews, Scotland, during spring/summer and Cabo San Lucas, Mexico, for three months in the autumn/winter.

GLOBAL CITIZEN

I love both continents. They are completely different and they offer such different experiences. Cooler temperatures make such a difference to golf.

I have friends all over the world and it's easier to catch-up with them when I am there and we do activities together. I also love entertaining at my homes and inviting friends over to hang out with me.

I am blessed and fortunate that I have the opportunity to travel so frequently. I am nevertheless always happy to come back to Singapore, that is the city I call home.

What inspires you each day to wake up and face the world?

It is important to have a positive attitude, whatever life throws at you. I wake up every day ready to face the world, eager to enjoy life and making sure I look good in the process, on the golf course and everywhere else.

POH EE AN, THE QUIET WORKER WHO HAS A LOT OF SAY ON THE GOLF COURSE

There was a hive of activity at Tanah Merah Country Club's Tampines Course Clubhouse towards the close of the Asian Tour's International Series on the final day of the US$1.5 million event on August 14.

With the final flight of Thailand's Nitithorn Thippong, Malaysia's Gavin Green and Taiwan's Chan Shih-chang on the 18th-hole fairway, the siren went because of lightning warning, and everyone had to be indoors.

During the 40-minute and the possibility of a play-off or return to play the next day, golf officials were hurrying and scurrying amidst phone calls and discussions as to what to do in case of disruption.

Standing near the busy buggy area was a key person few noticed. Hair ruffled from outdoor work, hands rough with handling tools but face breaking into a smile, he allowed the panic to be shared among the decision-making officials while he sat quiet beside a buggy.

Poh Ee An, 64, is not a noticeable employee at TMCC, but he holds a job that is so important that it can decide the fate of golfers especially those trying to make the cut at events.

His job description is "leader", and his duties are changing the pin position (with red, yellow, or blue flags on sticks) on the greens and the changing of tee-markers at the boxes of the 18 holes.

It is said that changing hole locations regularly is important, not only for the variety and player enjoyment but also to preserve the health of the greens.

The job comes easy for the affable Poh, in fact very routine for an employee who has done it for 40 years since the inauguration of TMCC in 1982.

"Yes, it is second nature to me, but you still must give it some thought. For you must move positions so that they look very different every day," said Poh, with an air of confidence.

Prior to joining TMCC, Poh, a father of one, was working as a caddie at the Singapore Island Country Club from the age of 16.

That job too came naturally for Poh as he was living in a kampung close to the 17th hole of the Island course at Upper Thomson Road.

And just by playing on the course on SICC's maintenance days, he became a decent golfer armed with a 6 handicap.

Modestly, he says that he has won several caddie competitions and his best score was a superlative one-over 73 at the old New Course.

He has caddied several times for Australian pro golfer Steward Ginn, a familiar face in the Singapore Open at the SICC Bukit Course and many regional tournaments here. He also won the 1977 Malaysian Open.

After four decades, Poh still enjoys his work even though he has travel long from his Yishun home to Changi Coastal Road. "I take the bus, and while travelling I think of my work," says the mild-mannered Poh.

On his days-off, he spends time with his buddies at Yishun coffeeshops near his home. "I have a lot of friends," says the likeable Poh, who adds that "I will work as long as I can do the job well."

STRETCH IT

By Bharatt Lamsal, TMCC Fitness Instructor

A few minutes stretching your hamstrings and glutes can make all the difference between performance and injury.

One of the travesties of the modern lifestyle is that we sit too much and for too long. Sedentary behaviour causes our muscles to tighten. And when we jump from being in the office or working on the computer for long periods of time into a golf game, that's when problems can arise. The demands of the golf swing on our bodies combined with muscles that have lost their flexibility often results in injuries to the lower back.

But all is not lost and it's never too late to get back some of that lost flexibility and subtleness with a few simple stretches done regularly.

Here are two easy ones that you can do anytime, anywhere. Spend a few minutes a day on them and you'll drastically reduce the possibility of injury while improving your mobility.

HAMSTRING STRETCH

Place one of your legs on a stable, raised support such as a heavy chair, stool, stair, or low ledge. (Pic 1)

Slowly reach both hands out towards the raised foot, and stretch it as far as you can either towards the toes, or beyond them. Feel the stretch in your hamstrings, and stop when it begins to ache. (Pic 2)

Hold it there for 10-20 seconds. Return to the start position, switch legs, and repeat.

Do 2 – 3 repetitions for each leg.

QUADRICEP STRETCH

From a standing position, lift one foot backwards and hold it with your hand from the same side. (Pic 3) If balancing is a problem, use your other hand to hold on to a wall or back of a chair.

Try to bring the raised foot as close as you can towards your buttocks, with the front of the thigh facing downwards, perpendicular to the ground. Feel the stretch in the quadriceps, and hold it there for 10 – 20 seconds. Repeat with the second leg.

Do 2 – 3 repetitions for each leg.

GLUTE STRETCH

Get into a seated position, ideally at a level where your legs are bent in a 90-degree angle. Cross one leg over the other. (Pic 4)

Slowly bend over, keeping your back straight and feeling the stretch in your glutes. (Pic 5). This is an excellent stretch to relieve those gluteus muscles that often tighten up from sitting too long.

Keep the stretch for 10 – 20 seconds, then repeat with the second side. Do 2 – 3 repetitions per side.

SPRINT SERIES A GREAT EVENT FOR THE YOUNG AND OLDIES

By Godfrey Robert

It is not often that people of two successive generations come together in this day and age.

Group photo of all the participants

And when you get people separated by two generations joining hands in an event or project, the binding force must be a good one.

Tanah Merah Country Club's Super Sprint Series 2022 is one such get-together event where a 50-year-old and seven-year-old see bonding and togetherness.

The Series, a swimming fun competition of eight events for five age-groups, between 7 and 14 and for oldies between 41 and 50 years, was a huge success.

The events were: 50 metres freestyle, 50m breaststroke, 50m backstroke, 50m butterfly, 100m freestyle, 100m breaststroke, 4 x 50m freestyle relay and 2 x 50m Parent & Child Relay.

A resounding total of 66 entries were received and every one of them enjoyed the event more for friendship and camaraderie than mere performances.

So on July 31, the TMCC Sports Complex's Competition Pool saw a hive of activity in a colourful array of swimsuit variety.

Competitors in action

SPRINT SERIES A GREAT EVENT FOR THE YOUNG AND OLDIES

The special highlights included a Member versus Coach event in which coach Anthony competed with club member Wendell Wong (W9727) for the 50m breaststroke and 50m Freestyle events. Wong won both categories, but only just.

The 4 x 50m freestyle relay attracted four participants to form a team and compete with another team of four swimmers. After a considerable amount of effort, Darryl, Ashlyn, Atticus and Lucas won the event in a time of 3 min 16.10 sec.

Another event to watch was the 2 x 50m Parent & Child Relay where three pairs competed. The competition was fierce between the team of Lucas and his mum and Phua Guan Yuan and his dad.

This was a touch-and-go showdown and Guan Yuan and his dad won in 1 min. 33.62 sec., edging out Lucas and his mum who clocked 1:34.5.

Before the prize presentation, the club's head coach Yang Bin shared a motivational speech to all participants.

After the prize presentation, a group photo, including all participants and parents, was taken to ensure "one for the memory".
